

A CALL FOR ALL

WEDNESDAY JUNE 14, 2023

FEMINIST STRIKE

As in many countries, in Switzerland we protested for equality, against sexism and discrimination. Following the historic strike of 14 June 2019 we have achieved nothing, so on 14 June 2023 we will be on strike again.

We are tired of waiting: 42 years since the people voted for a constitutional article on equality. 27 years since we have an Equality Act. But our salaries and pensions are still lower, often miserable. If we work part-time, it means that we provide two-thirds of domestic, educational and care work: cleaning, cooking, laundry, children, grandchildren, sick or elderly relatives. This work, without which Switzerland would simply not work, is not remunerated, but produces wealth. This work must be valued !

We are tired of sexism and all forms of violence. We want to live without the fear of being assaulted, work without the fear of being harassed, go home without the anxiety of being abused. Respecting our bodies, our lives, is putting an end to all violence against women and queer people and recognising our right to decide by and for ourselves.

We want a society based on equality and solidarity, without discrimination, sexism and violence against women and queer people, regardless of our skin colour, culture, origin or religion, passport, sexual orientation or gender identity, age or status.

That's why, on June 14, 2023,
we will go on strike.

Our strike will be global : in the workplace and at home. It will be adapted to the possibilities of each: cross your arms for a moment or all day, disturb instead of tidying up, occupy the public space during the day and at night! Our strike will not be against men, but against a patriarchal system that has had its day. On June 14, 2023, men in solidarity will be invited to support us.
